

Community-Engaged Research Workshop Series

Developing Resilient and Integrative Humanities Research in San Joaquin Valley Communities

September 21, 2020 | 10:30 AM -12:00 PM

Setting the Stage:

An Introduction to Community Research Ethics

Robin DeLugan, Associate Professor, Anthropology & Heritage Studies

Anne Zanzucchi, Associate Dean for Student Services and Academics

Register Here: tinyurl.com/LuceIntro921

October 5, 2020 | 10:30 AM -12:00 PM

Gateway to Merced:

Oral History as Creative Placemaking, Theory and Practice

Jayson Beaster-Jones, Associate Professor, Global Arts Studies Program

Patricia Vergara, Assistant Professor, Global Arts Studies Program

Kim McMillon, Community Consultant, Gateway to Merced Project

Colton Dennis, Executive Director, Merced County Arts Council, Inc.

Register Here: tinyurl.com/Luce1005

October 19, 2020 | 10:30 AM -12:00 PM

Digging into Local Archives:

Approaches and Methods for Planning Research

Emily Lin, Head of Digital Curation and Scholarship, UC Merced Library

Register Here: tinyurl.com/Luce1019

November 2, 2020 | 10:30 AM -12:00 PM

Constituting Community: Distinguishing Outreach from Engagement

Roundtable between Faculty and Graduate Students

Register Here: tinyurl.com/Luce1102

November 16, 2020 | 10:30 AM-12:00 PM

Voices from Communities

Humanities Community-Engaged Research Advisory Hub

Register Here: tinyurl.com/Luce1116

These workshops are focused on supporting graduate student development in community-engaged humanities research. Participation is open to faculty, graduate students and community partners and students enrolled in IH 291: Seminars in the Humanities. Participation in the workshop series is part of professional development and a qualification to apply for a summer Luce fellowship.